

Opening of the Bay

1 tries his hand at a fishing game at the Opening of the

Students from the Haley School of Irish Dance perform Irish Step Dance on the pier at the Opening of the Bay celebration Saturday.

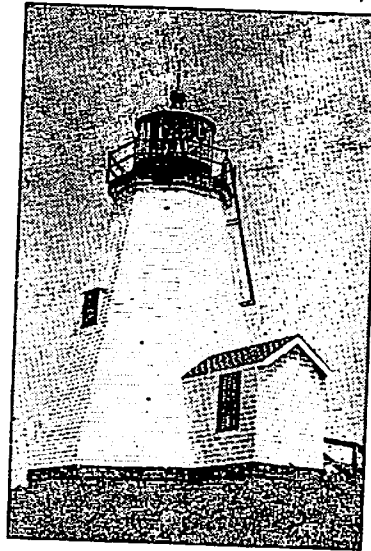

Alden "Rink" Ringquist explains how the light works in the top of the Gurnet Lighthouse.

Lige Berry paints Nina Morris's face at one of the craft tables inside the new Duxbury Bay Maritime School building.

The Wildcat Bog Stompers Bluegrass Band was one of the musical performers for the festival.

Part of the Opening of the Bay festival included tours of Gurnet Light.

Sara Passeri holds up a horseshoe crab in front of DBMS's marine ecology display.

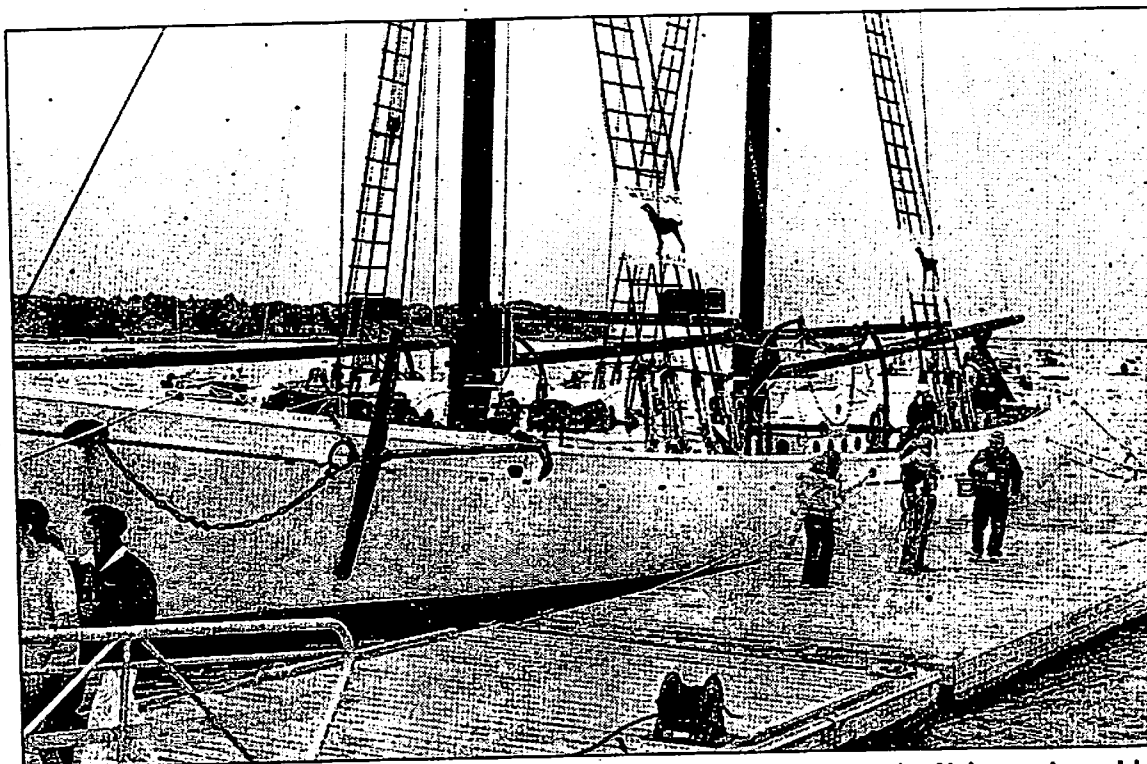

Photos by Justin Graeber

Miranda VanDingstee, Alyssa McKim and Lena Harati put together some arts and crafts projects.

The Opening of the Bay festival was an opportunity to showcase the Duxbury Bay Maritime School's new facility. Due to the threat of rain, many of the festival's vendors moved into the new building's large storage bays.

A visit from a tall ship is always part of the Opening of the Bay, and this year the Alabama stopped by Duxbury Bay.